Join us in our plans for the year ahead

As this wet and cold winter draws to a close, our thoughts turn to the new year that lies ahead. Maybe like me you wonder as to the shape and the form of God's plans for life here in Tiverton. What changes will we see? Do we go ahead and help set the scene or do we hang back and wait to see a pattern of God's work and encouragement before stepping in?

Personally I think we must crack on and pray, remaining observant and discerning while we work; there are certainly some key actions that we all need to engage with immediately.

Take a look at these 4 simple steps for church growth, and see how you can play your part in God's plan for new life:

Attracting People - We can all be more deliberate in attracting people to God and to our church, by talking about faith, Jesus and the Gospel, and inviting people to church. Bring people along to the services and events we hold.

Intentional Welcoming - As people come and join we give them a warm welcome, and when appropriate, invite them to come and join in and get involved, meeting up or joining a social group occasionally.

Building Relationships - We all need to keep actively building relationships in our churches - join a Small Group and put our name down on a rota to help out. Our legacy is then in extending faith-filled life through our community.

Growing in Faith - As faith grows we impact the wider community. Therefore we need to ensure we are spurring each other on to read/study the Bible, to pray daily and to find moments of quiet to be with God through the day.

So let's make 2024 a year of good life and healthy faith-filled growth! If we can find it in ourselves to lean in and step forward to contribute a little more to the life of our church, we will most certainly see God's provision in new and wonderful ways. This is going to be an exciting year - let's pray to discern our part in it and to commit to it.

Why tea is “the drink of getting things done”

The drinking of tea has found an unexpected new champion: James May, the former Top Gear presenter.

Speaking recently on Radio 4, James May said: “I’m just worried that the cult of coffee is going to destroy tea. And I don’t like coffee, it is just rubbish. I like tea.” He added: “Tea is the drink of getting things done.”

How did tea get so embedded in UK culture? Food historian Polly Russell says the answer lies in the Industrial Revolution of the mid-18th century. “Tea became less expensive and at the same time you had agricultural wages slumping, and agricultural workers literally not able to buy food, to buy fuel, or to afford a hot meal.

“So, tea became a way of having something hot and restorative – often with sugar – and that habit then also translated into the urban, as the industrial revolution expanded into our cities.”

And so it was that “tea became absolutely central to the diet of the working poor.” And this provided the basis for the idea “that tea and sugar were fuelling the industrial nation.”

James May argues that tea drinking is still fundamental to “bringing everyone together and ensuring happiness as well as productivity.”

He believes: “Tea in the British workplace is more than a drink, it’s a social glue. Britain is falling apart because we don’t drink enough tea.”

... I haven't the heart to tell Noah I think he's got the plans upside down!

Do what we can to help...

Several women in the church prayer group were visiting an elderly friend who was ill. After a while, they rose to leave and told her: "We'll do what we can to help. We promise to keep you in our prayers."

"Thank you," she said. "But really, I can do my own praying. The thing I can't do is the dishes in the sink in the kitchen...."

Tiverton Mothers' Union

Wednesday February 28th 2pm in the Baptist church rooms our meeting falls in Lent and the Talk is by Rev Jane Wilson, someone familiar to MU, a member herself, and also to St Peters as she has taken many services during the Interregnum. The Talk is "TWO DAVIDS" a reflection on DAVID Psalmist and King, and DAVID Patron Saint of Wales, Monk and Bishop. What can we learn from them today?

This will result in much discussion and I do hope you will make every effort to attend visitors and those interested in MU are very welcome and to join us in tea/coffee biscuits cake chat afterwards.

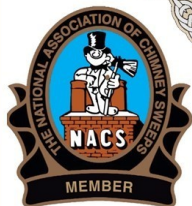

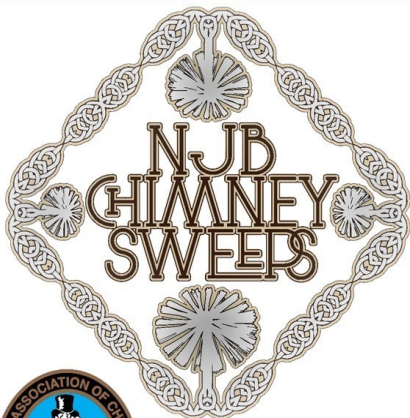

MU has its own charities to support at home and overseas, two in particular supported by this Diocese are A.F.I.A. and the Prison Book Share.

Away from it all are short breaks which not always seem possible but with our members help, we provide holidays, days out, joining existing holiday schemes for those whose family life has met with adversity. Peoples lives can be transformed simply through a short holiday. Referrals come from Parish Clergy GP's. Social Workers, Schools and Children's Centres. At our September meeting Janet Jones will be bringing us up to date with families who have benefited from this worthwhile scheme.

Prison Book Share ---Members provide 2 copies of the same book for a parent and child to read so when the family visits they both have something to talk about, it is a great way to help the dads and their children to keep together at this difficult time. Donations are also welcome so the organisers can bulk buy the books.

Friday 23rd February 12pm mid day prayers are said in Exeter Cathedral by Mother's Union all are welcome to join in.

Jam and Jerusalem

This months recipe came from Olwen Miles, a great friend at St Peter's and I can assure you it's absolutely delicious. You can use this for a super starter at a special meal, or indeed a lovely lunch, with perhaps some salad.

Baked Avocado with crab and prawns for 4 people

2 ripe avocados
Tin of crab (not shredded) + a few small prawns 50g white breadcrumbs
2 teaspoons of lemon juice
4 tablespoons of any salad dressing
Salt and pepper
Grated Parmesan cheese

Drain the crab well and flake the meat and add the prawns. Mix the breadcrumbs, lemon juice, salad dressing and season lightly. Halve the avocados and remove the stones. Divide the mixture between the avocados. Place in a dish larger enough to take all four comfortably, sprinkle with the Parmesan bake in the oven at 200 C / 180 F for 15 mins.

EnjoyI certainly did.

Torvill and Dean - and the Bolero that made Olympic history

Forty years ago, on 14th February 1984, figure skaters Jayne Torvill and Christopher Dean won the gold medal in ice dancing at the Winter Olympics in Sarajevo. They scored the first perfect 6.0 in Olympic history.

Both are from Nottingham and, despite the obvious chemistry between them, they have never been romantically involved with each other. Jayne is married, and Christopher is in a long-term relationship. Jayne was originally an insurance clerk and Dean a policeman, and they built up their ice partnership while working full-time – though they eventually received a grant from Nottingham City Council that enabled them to concentrate on their skating.

This was much like a full-time job. Christopher later described it as “obsessive...almost like being in a monastery. It was a religion in its own way”.

At Sarajevo they became the highest scoring figure skaters of all time for a single programme, which they skated to Ravel’s Bolero (it came in just within the time limit) and were awarded 12 perfect 6.0s – including a 6.0 from every judge for artistic impression – and six 5.9s. In 2002 this performance was voted into eighth place in a Channel 4 poll of the 100 Greatest Sporting Moments.

The pair turned professional after Sarajevo and won the world professional championships five times. Their innovations had a lasting impact on the sport, and in 2000 they were made OBEs for their outstanding contributions to skating and to British sport.

The National Ice Centre in Nottingham is now accessed through Bolero Square; a housing estate in the Wollaton area of the city contains a street named Torvill Drive and an adjoining one called Dean Close.

Christmas is gone, but here comes Easter

Thank you all for your support in the run up to Christmas. Just about all our Christmas stock was sold and Penny was only left with a handful of Christmas cards. I must admit, that when I saw the large boxes of cards in the stock room and paid the invoices, I wondered if Penny had gone over the top this time. But no, she judged it just about spot on, as usual.

But no sooner has Christmas gone then we are preparing for Easter, although the orders for Easter stock went in months ago. Penny will be putting the it out towards the end of February, so make a note to pop into the shop to buy your Easter cards.

Unfortunately, the supplier of The Real Easter Eggs that we have stocked in previous years, went out of business last year and we have not been able to find a replacement supplier. We can, of course, still buy the Easter eggs, but we would have to pay more for them than you will be able to buy them for elsewhere, so Penny had reluctantly decided not to stock them this year. Hopefully, by next year we will find another supplier who will sell them to us at trade prices, so that we can make a small profit on them.

After Easter its Summer.

We may be in the depths of winter as I write this but in a few months the weather should be warm and sunny and we will be able to open the Harbour. Lets look forward to being able to sit out in the sun trap to drink tea or coffee and have a piece of cake.

Tuesday's Prayer Meeting

New Creation, now Lighthouse, was set up to spread the Good News about Jesus to people in the local area. We still hold to that, and so a group meet in the Downstairs Room , between noon and 1:00 pm on Tuesdays, to pray for the area. As I write this I can hear them in the next room singing Onward Christian Soldiers as they prepare to do battle for Mid-Devon and further afield. The meeting is open to anyone, so why not come and join them.

Thank you for your continued prayers and support for the work of Lighthouse.
