It's always time for God-given mindfulness

How well are you looking after yourself? Is God calling you to greater self-awareness?

The bible is often reminding us that it's tough out there and we've got to remember who we are, whose we are and to keep our wits about us - for example...

2 Corinth 10: 4 The weapons we fight with are not the weapons of the world. On the contrary, they have divine power to demolish strongholds. 5 We demolish arguments and every pretension that sets itself up against the knowledge of God, and we take captive every thought to make it obedient to Christ.

So many of our problems are rooted in thinking patterns that are actually producing the problems we're experiencing in life. Satan tempts us all to 'wrong thinking', but we don't have to accept his offer - we've got to get right back to abiding in Christ!

As we mature in faith (and often with hindsight!), we appreciate more and more the importance of looking after ourselves, not just for our own sake but also for the sake of our partners. It's important to take time to reflect on how God wants us to look after ourselves, particularly when we feel under pressure.

From resting in the peace of God and abiding in Him, flows a balanced approach to whatever the world can throw at us. From this vantage point we can more easily rally our thoughts and think about what we are thinking about. A simple and effective meditation is a prayerful connection with our saviour Jesus Christ - a quiet time with God nourishes our thoughts and therefore our words. Through prayer we both sooth and invigorate our spirit, allowing time for God to more clearly communicate with us, helping us to consider how we are best to communicate with the people around us 'in life and peace'.

Rom 8: 5 Those who live according to the flesh have their minds set on what the flesh desires; but those who live in accordance with the Spirit have their minds set on what the Spirit desires. 6 The mind governed by the flesh is death, but the mind governed by the Spirit is life and peace.

As we line up our thoughts with God's thoughts, little by little we're changing. The more we change our minds for the better, the more our life changes for the better. When we begin to see God's good plan for us in our thinking, we grow in confidence to walk in it, and our life is restored and the peace of the Lord will reign.

Rev Christian

Wonders of the Living World

What are the best metaphors we could use to describe biological things? You might be used to hearing phrases like ‘your genetic blueprint’ or ‘survival of the fittest’, but are they helpful or even accurate? Some of these words fail to capture the wonder and joy of understanding something new about the nature of living organisms.

I learned that one researcher was using the phrase ‘The Snuggle for Existence’ as a way to convey the idea, familiar to biologists, that cooperation is at the heart of the living world. For example, every cell more complex than a bacterium contains minute energy factories, each one containing their own piece of DNA – which makes them a sort of miniature cell, hidden away inside the larger host cell. These ‘mitochondria’, as biologists call them, turn raw materials from the host into chemical energy. In this way, everyone benefits: the mitochondria now have a safe place to live, and the host receives the energy it needs. There are many more examples of organisms working together to produce something that is more than the sum of its parts, where often the individual parts could not survive on their own.

‘The Map of Life’ is a way of describing the regularities we see in biological processes. Eyes, legs and wings have emerged in the living world again and again, and why not? If the properties of light and gravity remain constant, we should expect living things to find the same solutions to seeing or getting around. When we look at these organisms’ family trees, we see they share a common ancestor that had no eyes, or no wings. These structures have developed completely independently, or you could say that the paths of the living world have converged on the same solution. That’s not to say they had a conscious goal, but that the world has certain properties, and those properties have channelled biological processes in certain directions.

None of these stories give us definite evidence for God. Science simply provides data, which can often be interpreted in several different ways. Perhaps the world just happens to be full of mathematical regularities, maybe there’s an overarching physical law we don’t yet understand, or perhaps there are multiple universes and ours happens to be the one in which life has arisen. But I believe that the observations scientists make about the living world are compatible with the existence of the God described by Christian faith.

Tiverton Mothers' Union

June 26th is our SUMMER OUTING and we have chosen to go to Tiverton Canal Tea Rooms for a delicious cream Tea where we meet at 2-30 pm. As in past years we do invite friends and members of our congregation to join us for an enjoyable afternoon. To confirm our block booking we need numbers in advance please give your names to Nickie Johnson (07957 198388) or any MU member.

Our speaker for April Janet Jones who was accompanied by Bridget Vinton, who had MU cards for us to purchase and her last visit to us before she moves out of the area, both were welcomed by Nickie Johnson who opened our meeting with prayers. The reading was The Transfiguration Matthew 17th gathered our thoughts before Janet's talk "Transformation in Action" who went on to say transformation or change are words with similar meanings. Transformation would seem more important than change, society is changing and MU like all organisations needs to transform with the time. We need to look and see how we can help in our parishes.

Over the years we have changed from taking our children to school and then they leave for University or work. Some of us are widowed or move locations. As we get older and require more help from others, which is difficult to accept.

MU members are resilient and adaptable and remember "With God Nothing is Impossible" as we continue with our prayer life.

As always our meeting finished with many thanks to our speaker for coming from Buckfastleigh to give us such a thought provoking talk as we enjoyed tea& cake together.

For the Gardeners amongst you Y.M.C.A. is to host BBC Gardeners Question Time in collaboration with St David's Church Tuesday 18th June 5-8 pm tickets £4-50. Advanced tickets only ymcexeter.org.uk/GQT.

Jam and Jerusalem

Well June makes you think of lots of Sunshine days, Wimbledon, strawberries and Ice Cream!!

So Caro has come up with another delicious recipe for us all to enjoy.

Easy-peasy Ginger Ice Cream.

1 pt of double cream, whipped but not too stiff

1 tin of condensed milk

1 tsp good vanilla essence

1 jar of preserved ginger in syrup

Reserve 2 or 3 lumps of ginger & finely chop, purée the rest of the ginger with all the syrup.

Mix everything together - cream, condensed milk, vanilla essence, ginger purée and chopped ginger - & pour into a plastic tub to freeze.

This ice cream needs no stirring or beating as it freezes, & is delicious served with strawberries or apple tart or on its own with a chocolate sauce.....
yummy.

So I await your lovely recipes to add to our wonderful collection.

The D-Day Normandy Landings

Eighty years ago, on 6th June 1944, the D-Day Normandy Landings took place. More than 150,000 Allied troops landed on the beaches of Normandy. The Battle of Normandy ended on 25th August with an Allied victory.

The question of what the D stood for has never been absolutely determined: some say it just stood for Day; others maintain it was Disembarkation, because it was an amphibious operation. What is sure is that there was a spiritual dimension. General Eisenhower, the commander of Operation Overlord, urged those taking part to “beseech the blessing of Almighty God upon this great and noble undertaking”, and President Roosevelt broadcast a prayer to the nation – the United States, that is.

Before June 5 – the original date for D-Day, before bad weather forced a rethink – a massive and successful series of deceptions were put in place to make the Nazis think the invasion would come elsewhere. The Germans were certainly confused. Hitler, thinking the attack was a feint, refused to send reinforcements, and their strategy was hampered by the absence of their brilliant Commander Erwin Rommel, who was on leave.

Nevertheless, the Americans suffered over 2,000 casualties at Omaha Beach, which was the most heavily defended. Altogether it was reckoned that over 4000 Allied troops were killed, but about 156,000 successfully stormed the beaches, and many landed behind the lines, including American paratrooper Private John Steele, who descended on to the pinnacle of the church tower in Sainte-Mère-Église, the first village to be liberated by the U S Army. Lit up by searchlights, he survived by pretending to be dead, was captured and then escaped, joining the invading soldiers.

This year handmade silhouettes of almost 1,500 servicemen were transported to Normandy for an art installation, Standing with Giants, to mark the anniversary.

Random Thoughts

"What is truth?" demanded Pilate.

Being the Governor of an outpost of the Roman Empire and tasked with keeping the peace with a resentful and rebellious people, he had to tread a delicate political line. He was a just man, frustrated by years of having to listen to and act upon so much dubious evidence at many trials; and we all know the resulting faulty verdict when evidence is left out of a hearing. When accidental it is bad enough, but when deliberate we are justly appalled.

And so Pontius Pilate, feeling it politic to condemn an innocent man for the sake of preventing what seemed to him a catastrophic uprising (and possibly the end of his career) washed his hands of it. I have often wondered how he reacted to the aftermath, but we shall never know for he disappears from Biblical history. I have reflected too, how many millions of innocents before or since have been sacrificed to political expediency.

Yet of this fascinating man, his question remains, sharp and clear: "What is truth?"

Most thinking people long for it, science searches for it, history doesn't seem to bother much about it, and in these days of technical wonders we are besieged by misrepresentations, propaganda, fake news and lies. It seems, indeed, that we are little children stumbling in the dark.

"And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall set you free."

But faced with it, we recognize it with piercing clarity and grasp it with the relief of a man adrift in a fractious sea, for it came from the lips of our Lord when he said, "I am the Way, the Truth and the Life."

A whimsical illustration for a Summer Fete poster. The background is a light blue sky with soft white clouds. At the top, a string of colorful triangular bunting flags (pink, orange, green) hangs across the frame. Scattered around the text are various food items: a white teacup and saucer, a cupcake, a slice of cake, and a chocolate swirl. At the bottom, several terracotta pots of different sizes are filled with various flowers, including red poppies, pink daisies, and blue cornflowers. The overall style is hand-drawn and cheerful.

One day

As I'm sitting writing this, the rain is lashing against the window. It seems to have been raining forever, although we did have some lovely weather for a few days last week. This means that we are not getting the use of the Harbour, our outdoor seating area, that we hoped for. A few brave souls have been out there, especially when the sun is shining, when it becomes a real sun trap.

Let's hope that the weather will improve once summer finally arrives, and we can use the Harbour every day. There is nothing better than sitting out there on a sunny day with a cup of coffee, a slice of Penny's or Kelsie's cake and some friends to chat with. All we must do is wait for the rain to finally end one day!

Visitors to Tiverton

One of the things that we have noticed since moving nearer to the town centre is the increase in the number of visitors to Tiverton who now find us. Over the years it felt as if we were slowly being left out on a limb at New Creation, but now Lighthouse is in the middle of where it is all happening. Visitors to the town are overjoyed at finding us and often tell us how once they too had a Christian shop in their area, but now it had closed.

As well as enjoying a drink and homemade cake, many will take the opportunity to stock up on various items to take home with them. And then they find the Downstairs Room and the second-hand book department – what joy! When leaving they often comment on the friendly atmosphere and how they had enjoyed their visit.

The other week, a lady who had been brought up in Tiverton was making one of her regular trips to her hometown to see family and friends. She mentioned how disappointed she had been on her last visit to find that New Creation had closed, and now on this trip, how pleased she was to find that we had only moved 200 yards down the road and changed our name.

May's non-newsletter

I'm sorry about the missing newsletter last month but something unexpected turned up on the day I had set aside to write it. Fortunately, the problem was resolved, but left me no time for the newsletter.

Thank you for your continued prayers and support for the work of Lighthouse.
